

New Cryptocurrencies Available for Trading

Will 2017 go down in history as the year cryptocurrencies became part of the global financial system?

It's hard not to acknowledge the impact digital currencies have had on the capital markets over the past year - and the interest this has provoked in traders all over the world.

With regard to that, and due to increased client demand, we are expanding our current CFD selection (Bitcoin, Ether and Bitcoin Cash) to include five more cryptocurrencies.

Ripple (XPR/USD): A global network that enables banks to settle cross-border payments in real time, with end-to-end transparency, and at lower costs.

Ethereum Classic (ETC/USD): Result of a hard fork of the original Ethereum blockchain after the DAO hack in 2016.

Litecoin* (LTC/USD): One of the initial cryptocurrencies following Bitcoin, often referred to as 'silver' to Bitcoin's gold.

Dash* (DASH/USD): Formerly known as Darkcoin or XCoin, Dash offers all the capabilities of Bitcoin, but featuring instant transactions with a focus on privacy.

Zcash* (ZEC/USD): Provides extra security and privacy as transactions are recorded and published on a blockchain, but details such as the sender, recipient, and amount remain private.

* Also offered as Mini CFDs that can be traded at approximately 1/10th of the price of the respective standard CFD, allowing more clients access to that market.

You can now take both long and short positions in any of the new Cryptocurrency CFDs at 75% margin and no commissions. Log in to your account here.

Please note that Cryptocurrency CFDs are an extremely high-risk, speculative investment!
